

Joe Moss
Defensive Coordinator

Now occupying the position of Defensive Coordinator, Joe Moss is no stranger to the Ottawa Rough Riders. Joining the team for the fourth time, Joe brings with him experience in the CFL and NFL, as well as both U.S and Canadian collegiate football.

After enjoying a very successful playing career, Joe began coaching in the U.S for Texas Tech, the University of Maryland and the Air Force. He coached professional linebackers for the Philadelphia Eagles of the NFL. Since 1985, he has held coaching positions in the CFL with Toronto, Saskatchewan, and was the Head Coach of the University of Ottawa Gee-Gees, a team that went to a perfect 7-0 season. Joe was also the Head Coach of the Ottawa Rough Riders for 10 years (1985-86), and spent one year as Interim Head Coach.

Joe lives in Ancaster, Ontario, with her two sons. His son and daughter-in-law have children of their own.

Jimmy Carr
Defensive Backs
Coach

New Defensive Backs Coach Jimmy Carr joins the Rough Riders for the first time after coaching professional football for the past thirty years.

Jimmy, who answers to the nickname "Gummy", enjoyed a successful playing career with the Montreal Alouettes, as well as the Philadelphia Eagles and Washington Redskins. He was also a member of the 1960 Philadelphia Eagles NFL Championship Team.

For the past thirty years, Jimmy has coached defense in the NFL for the Minnesota Vikings, Chicago Bears, Buffalo Bills, San Francisco 49ers, Atlanta Falcons and New England Patriots. Jimmy has also worked as a pro scout in the NFL, and as a Defensive Coordinator for the Amsterdam Admirals in the World League of American Football.

Jimmy and his wife, Lila Lee, reside in Atlanta, Georgia in the off-season, and have two children and three grandchildren.
